PROCEDURE FOR APPLYING TO THE B.S.Ed. IN EXERCISE AND SPORT SCIENCE

The B.S.Ed. in Exercise and Sport Science in the Department of Kinesiology is classified as a restricted major, which has a limited enrollment. Therefore, students need to follow the procedures below in order to be considered for admission into the major.

Selection Process:

In order to be considered for full acceptance into the B.S.Ed. in Exercise and Sport Science Degree, a student must have an overall GPA of 2.75 or better and a grade of C or better in Area F required courses and EXRS 2010. A student in the process of completing the required course work in Area F may be "provisionally accepted," contingent upon satisfactorily completing the required courses while maintaining a GPA of 2.75 or greater.

The Area F requirements for the major are:

CHEM 1211-1211L	Freshman Chemistry I
CHEM 1212-1212L	Freshman Chemistry II
CBIO 2200-2200L	Human Anatomy and Physiology I
CBIO 2210-2210L	Human Anatomy and Physiology II
PHYS 1111-1111L	Introductory Physics

Area A Courses Evaluated	Area D Courses Evaluated	Core Course
ENGL 1101	BIOL 1107	EXRS 2010
ENGL 1102	BIOL 1108
MATH _____	MATH _____

Students will submit an application (see attached) along with a typed essay between 550 and 750 words on their background related to exercise and sport science, career goals, and how their admission to the major will assist them in achieving their career goals. Each year, approximately 75 students are accepted. Quotas for number of students accepted fall, spring and summer semesters (totaling 75) are established at the beginning of the year. Each semester, applicants are rank ordered based on GPA for Area F courses, selected course work in Area A and D, and the essay. The highest ranking students up to the quota for that semester are admitted. Simply meeting the minimum criteria for applying will not guarantee acceptance.

All application materials should be forwarded to Dell Whitehead, undergraduate advisor in the Department of Kinesiology, Room 304 of the Ramsey Student Center before the application deadline. There will be three application periods each year. The Fall application deadline is the third Friday in September; the Spring application deadline is the third Friday in January; and the Summer application deadline is the third Friday in June. Notification of acceptance, provisional acceptance, or non-acceptance will be mailed to you approximately three weeks after the submission date.
